UNIDO : United Nations Industrial Development Organization

The organization's primary objective is the promotion and acceleration of industrial development.

Hello everyone! I'm Nakano from the export-division. I'd like to talk about the way of spending money.

We have convenience stores which are working 24 hours 365days in Japan. Even in this world depression, these businesses are still in great demand. There are prepared from medical things to foods in one store, however Mr. Philippe Troussier who was a former coach of Japan national team concerned like this stores will make young Japanese spoiled.

Because there are many things, we are losing knowledge and effort.

If there is nothing, we can think and arrange to solve problems in some other way.

As we are relating with people around the world,

I would like to understand the value of money in each countries and not to follow up only convenient.

I hope we can work happily and make good business with you.
