INFLUENZA A (H1N1)

We hope you have not caught the flu, but Influenza A (H1N1) has been spread all over the world currently as you know. There were 277,607 people who have an infection and more than 3,205 people who had died by the flu. Some countries have given up counting infected people, therefore WHO suggested that number is not correct perfectly. And also, they think 20 million people will be infected in 2 years. It means it will infect one in 3 people.

Fortunately, there is no one who has the flu around us at the moment however it is good to be careful anytime.

I watched one TV program which picked up "Opinion poll for Influenza in the world". In Japan, it is naturally said to gargle the throat or wash your hands after coming back home and wear a flu mask when we walk in the crowd.

But I found by that TV program which people do not have such habit in the most of

HACCPAQUA

Recently we are using one goods called HACCPAQUA to protect from virus apart from such habit. We introduced it in our HP before (http://www.kaiho.co.jp/2009/10/haccpaqua_for_your_health.html). According to the survey from the manufacture of the product, the schools which bring in HACCPAQUA not suspend their all classes or individual class even though some students get the flu. You may not know but lots of schools tend to suspend classes with multiple infected students now in Japan. Considering this fact, we can see surprising effect of the product. Of course we cannot proof if it really thanks for HACCPAQUA however it is worth a try at least!!

If you are interested in it, please contact to us anytime.
